

Dream Network Journal Invites You to Join The Dream Circle

You Will Reap an Infusion of Benefits In Becoming a Sustaining Member

DNJ has just expanded, having recently launched a new dimension to our Mission!

Given nearly 30 years of being the first nationally distributed publication of its kind, we presently offer simultaneous print and online editions. It is felt that we have more to offer you than a subscription to our Quarterly Journal or Online Membership.

Thus, membership to an inclusive group of individuals is created and you are invited!

Here, now are some of the benefits you will enjoy for joining:

- * A free, business size ad once per year in DNJ, both print and online (value $100)
- * Free access to back issues of DNJ online/.pdf style; (10 issues/value $4 each)
- * Free print subscription (value $25)
- * Free online membership (value $22)
- * Free book each year. This year: Sleep On It! by Janice Baylis, Ph.D. (value varies)
- * Up to four FREE holiday gift subscriptions each year (value $25-$100)
- * Drawings for member products
- * Creative Online Events, such as...

(Over Please)

Coming Soon, Online Events such as this one suggested by Russ Lockahrt:

* Russell dreamt... "There is a patch of grass and on it a sign with the words "Ceilidh of Dreams." A hand icon points to a path off to the right into some trees."

"Ceilidh (pronounced kay-leah) refers to a kind of Scots-Irish party with a seriousness of purpose. I like the image of a party of dreams.

I wonder what might happen if members of The Dream Circle were to gather together in a modern form of community, online and at the same time... making use of social technology? I'm not thinking of the usual formal classes, lectures or teaching modes but, as in my dream, a party of dreams, a party of dreamers, a Ceilidh of dreams."

* Additional benefits will be announced throughout the years.
