About Our Cover

"In The Magnificence"

*no grasping, no self-image crutches, no mental commentary... there!
nature is at your feet - you come with love - the great Magificence opens to meet you*

by Tony Macelli

Tony Macelli is an artist, writer, and a freelance consultant in the areas of education, development work and planning, has been working with UNESCO and until recently was advisor to the Minister of Education. He lives on the Mediterranean island of Malta with his wife Nora. Together they have worked in several developing countries, especially India, as innovative local development workers, managers, and trainers. He obtained four degrees from three universities in mathematics, physics, community development, and systems analysis of human settlements.

His current interests include developing educational approaches that can attack poverty, as distinct from helping the poor and he welcomes information and suggestions from anyone in this direction. He has made book-covers and other artwork, and would like to collaborate on dream-related or similar projects to illustrate articles or books. His art includes whimsical and dream-like pieces, spiritual-mystical inspirations and colourful landscapes. Contact him on ICQ 117594388 or Email Mr. Macelli at : tonynora@maltanet.net
